

AN EYE FOR DETAIL

Armstrong®

HARDWOOD FLOORING

CRAFTED WITH AN EYE FOR DETAIL

EPH6407

You tried seven samples before choosing the perfect shade of yellow for your bedroom walls. It took years of scouring antique shops across three states to find the lamp that tops your great-grandmother's vanity. It's those little things that make your home yours. From furniture to fabrics to floors, you take every detail into consideration.

EPH6407

Armstrong shares your eye for detail. It's a perspective we've held for over a century. We put that same focus and attention into creating our hardwood floors. Our team of product designers searches the worlds of art and fashion to find inspiration in colors, finishes, and textures. We select the finest wood species from responsible sources that share our commitment to the environment, and our precision manufacturing ensures reliable, consistent quality floors that last a lifetime. The result is a hardwood floor that has been crafted with the same consideration and attention to detail you put into every room of your home. A floor that stands up to our exacting standards – and more importantly, yours.

USING YOUR EYE FOR DETAIL TO CHOOSE THE PERFECT FLOOR

This catalog is designed to introduce you to the rich variety of Armstrong® hardwood options available for your home. From exotic tropical species and unique specialty visuals, to authentic hand-sculpted and distressed planks, to timeless traditional designs and high-performance hardwood, each floor is designed and crafted with all the attention to detail you demand for your home. One look and you'll discover why generations of Americans trust Armstrong for their flooring.

We invite you to spend some time with the catalog to get an idea of which looks are right for you and your home. Then visit your nearest independent Armstrong hardwood retailer to see samples of the floors in person. (You can find retailers near you at www.armstrong.com.) Get a first-hand look at the quality of Armstrong hardwood. Experience the depth of color and grain. Feel the differences in texture. Take a sample home to get a sense of how it looks in your room. Your retailer will guide you through the selection process and help you choose a hardwood floor you will love for years.

BIRCH | Cypress Grove
EEF5301

Nature has always been a source of inspiration. But now, the desire to preserve and protect our natural resources has inspired a whole new world of innovative design. Exotic Fusion is one such innovation, fulfilling the desire to create new and exciting hardwood designs without depleting the world's rarest and most beautiful tropical forests.

BIRCH | Cypress Grove

Exotic hardwood species are prized for their unique character, striking grain patterns and depth of natural color. To capture this look, Armstrong began with four abundant domestic species known for their exceptional graining: maple, mountain elm, ash and birch. Individual boards are selected with special attention to the character of the grain. A special thermal treatment process caramelizes the wood, producing rich colors and distinctive grain effects remarkably similar to exotic woods.

The time and temperature are precisely controlled for each species, as a range of extraordinary shades and effects can be achieved simply by adjusting these variables. No stains are necessary. The thermal process colors the entire plank. The smooth surface and dramatic details of Exotic Fusion™ are at home in a wide range of settings, from transitional to contemporary to global designs. It's the perfect choice for anyone who demands the new and exciting, but wants to do so responsibly.

A CLOSER LOOK AT BARREL CREEK™

SBC2100

It began in the rolling hills of Napa Valley.

At the intersection of wine country and ecological ingenuity, interior designers found a new way to reuse wine barrels. The reclaimed oak became furniture, home accessories, and truly unique hardwood floors. The look is a strikingly original interpretation of vintage style.

SBC2100

Armstrong was inspired by this extraordinary style and have made it more widely available. We begin with solid 2-1/4" strips of premium rift and quartered oak – the same material coopers use to make fine wine barrels. We have painstakingly reconstructed every detail of the original barrel floors, complete with Vintner's marks burned into random strips and authentic cooperage stamps. We apply a deep color wash to enhance the grain and give the wood an aged appearance.

This interplay between color and texture make Barrel Creek™ a three-dimensional sensory experience. Finally, the floor receives our highest quality urethane finish to protect its unique look. Whether you are a wine aficionado, a vintage design enthusiast, or just love truly original home décor, Barrel Creek is a unique way to bring a touch of wine country ambiance into your home.

A CLOSER LOOK AT CENTURY ESTATE™

Once upon a time, practically every floor was a hardwood floor; hand carved by carpenters and craftsmen. Some of the most beautiful examples of this craftsmanship remain in the country manor homes of Europe and the mansions of the Old South. It is these antique plank floors, sculpted by hand and worn to elegant smoothness by the footsteps of generations, that inspired the Armstrong® Century Estate collection.

EPH6402

Each Century Estate™ floor is a one-of-a-kind work of art. Armstrong has chosen the finest hickory, maple, oak and walnut – all classic species known for their timeless beauty and durability. Each 6" wide plank is hand-sculpted to create the details of centuries-old floors. Authentic details include soft, undulating carving and subtle pillow-edged planks. The planks are then hand-stained the old-fashioned way, providing a depth of color and luminous patina unmatched by any modern machine. The final result is a selection of 12 stunningly refined floors with timeless beauty and remarkable versatility. Century Estate provides the perfect foundation for traditional or old world design, as well as an ideal unifying element for bridging styles in a modern décor.

A CLOSER LOOK AT HIGHROVE™ MANOR

SPW5504

Classic looks are reinterpreted all the time, maintaining their timeless appeal with a twist that makes them perfect for today. Such is the inspiration behind Highgrove Manor, a collection of hardwood floors by Armstrong that will inspire as much admiration decades from now as the day they're installed.

SPW5504

This premium collection of 3/4" solid hardwood uses the highest grade American maple, oak, hickory and cherry. The 4" and 5" wide planks are sanded to smooth perfection, then completed with the finest stains and premium finishes in shades ranging from clear natural and rich chocolate, to new neutrals including whitewash and soft gray. The clean lines and immaculately smooth finish of Highgrove™ Manor form the perfect backdrop for contemporary minimalist décor, but are just as beautiful in coastal designs and traditional homes.

A CLOSER LOOK AT PREMIER PERFORMANCE™

EHP5014

Life may be full of compromises, but flooring doesn't have to be one of them. No one should have to sacrifice the elegance and lasting value of authentic hardwood just because they need a floor that can stand up to kids, pets, and an all-around active lifestyle.

EHP5007

Armstrong was the first to take on the challenge of developing a harder hardwood floor. We began with genuine engineered hardwood in a wide selection of colors and species and infused it with liquid acrylic. This exclusive process creates a dramatically tougher floor. Even cherry – one of the softest hardwood species – becomes harder than oak. Add on our proprietary Permion® wear layer, and a Premier Performance™ floor resists scratches, scrapes, dings and dents better than any traditional hardwood floor. So, whatever your style or your lifestyle, you can enjoy the beauty and value that only a genuine hardwood floor can bring to your home. No compromises necessary.

HARDWOOD DESIGN DETAILS TO CONSIDER

Board-to-board color variation

The normal color variations found in natural hardwoods differ from species to species. It is part of the inherent beauty of wood flooring. "Least" indicates the most consistent choices. "Most" indicates the collections where the greatest board-to-board color variations are found.

Least

More

Most

Color over time

Wood is a natural material that reacts to ambient light. For example, select exotic woods gain richness in color once exposed to sunlight and will become darker and more uniform over time. Others may lighten after exposure to sunlight. The most dramatic changes occur within the first six months following installation. Those species most prone to color changes are indicated in the Armstrong Product Guide.

Moderate

Gloss level

Do you prefer a formal high gloss or a more casual low gloss? The choice is entirely a matter of taste. The gloss level does not affect the durability or performance of your floor.

Surface texture

As a natural wood product, your hardwood floors will have individual characteristics of color, grain and texture. Some Armstrong® Hardwood Floors have a deeply textured, rustic surface, while others use subtler hand sculpting for an old-world look. Some use exclusive staining and distressing techniques for the look of aged, weathered hardwood. Others are designed to have a satin-smooth surface.

The unique beauty of each Armstrong® Hardwood Floor is in the details. These pages highlight some of the design details that make each floor distinctive. There is no wrong or right choice here — it's all about personal preference. If you have any questions feel free to ask your independent Armstrong Hardwood Floor retailer.

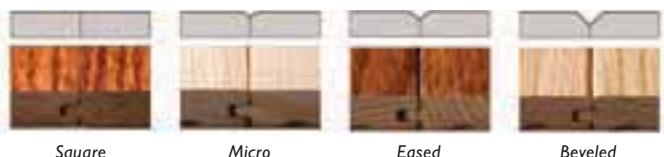

Board width

From narrow strips to extra-wide planks, Armstrong offers you an extensive array of options in board width.

Edge and end treatments

Some collections have square edges and ends, while others have boards with a slight bevel. Wood strips or planks with square edges tend to blend boards into a unified floor appearance. Beveling makes individual planks more noticeable. In addition to standard beveling, Micro-beveling and eased edges provide a subtler definition.

All about wood species

Armstrong Hardwood Floors offer a wide selection of wood species. The natural wood characteristics of each species offer a variety of stylish options that span all price points from standard to premium. Additional features, such as hand-sculpting or acrylic impregnation, will also affect price.

Trim and Molding

Armstrong offers a complete selection of coordinated trim and molding in all species, finishes and colors to provide the finishing touch to your installation. Your Armstrong retailer will complete your order with the accessories needed for your installation.

HARDWOOD PERFORMANCE DETAILS TO CONSIDER

Hardwood construction

The construction options open to you will depend on which level of your home the floor will be installed.

Solid Wood Floors – Select solid strips or planks of your chosen species. Solid flooring is designed for installation on or above ground level and is installed by nailing boards to a wood subfloor.

Low-profile Wood Floors – Armstrong pioneered the development of proprietary 5/16" thick solid and engineered wood construction that can be glued-down over concrete and other hard surfaces or stapled to the existing wood subfloor. The low-profile construction offers a smooth transition to other rooms with different floor coverings. Install on or above ground level.

Engineered Wood Floors – Engineered floors from Armstrong feature a layered construction of 100% hardwood.

The wood layers are permanently bonded together in a cross-ply construction for superior strength and dimensional stability. They can be installed on all levels of the home including below grade, such as your basement. In addition to glue-down installation, many can also be stapled or installed using the floating method.

Locking Wood Floors – Engineered floors that install with interlocking edges are the easiest hardwood floors to install. They require no nails, glue or staples and can be installed on all levels of the home.

Subfloor construction

Depending on whether you choose solid or engineered hardwood, they may be installed using glue, nails or staples or may interlock to “float” above your subfloor. The unique cross-ply construction of an engineered floor controls the floor’s natural tendency to expand and contract, enabling glue-down installation. Glue-down and floating installations are usually used over concrete, vinyl and other non-nailable surfaces. Nails or staples are used when installing over wood subfloors.

All about wood species

Ability to withstand foot traffic, children and pets will vary by hardness of wood, and some species are harder than others. Walnut or Cherry may be fine for your bedroom or dining room. You may prefer Oak, Tropical Exotic Hardwoods, Maple or Ash for higher traffic areas like your kitchen or family room.

The standard measurement of hardness is the Janka scale rating. Strong, resilient Oak is used as the industry benchmark, with a rating of 1290. The higher the rating number, the harder the wood. Refer to the hardness ratings in the Armstrong® Product Guide to find the relative hardness of each product and species.

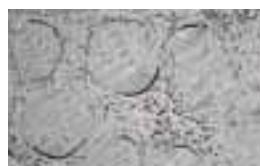

There are plenty of details to consider when determining which hardwood is right for a particular room in your home. These pages give you a brief overview. Don't be overwhelmed. Your independent Armstrong Hardwood Floor retailer knows all the ins and outs and can answer all your questions to help you make the best choice.

Performance hardwood

Premium Acrylic Impregnation offers up to twice the durability of non-impregnated products. In this process, liquid acrylic is combined with stain and injected throughout the surface layer of genuine hardwood to fortify the fibers and protect the floor from dings and dents.

Warranties

All Armstrong® Hardwood products come with a lifetime structural integrity warranty. This means that we warrant the product as being free from defects in grading, lamination and assembly for as long as the original owner owns the floor.

Our residential finishes come with 5 to 35-year warranties, depending upon the product you choose. On select hardwood products, in addition to the residential finish warranty, we offer a 3 year commercial warranty. This states the finish will not wear through under normal commercial use when installed in settings appropriate for that product (as noted in the Recommended Applications matrix in the commercial hardwood flooring section at www.armstrong.com) and maintained according to Armstrong guidelines.

Care and maintenance

To preserve the beauty of your floor, sweep or dry mop as needed. Periodically clean with Armstrong Hardwood & Laminate Floor Cleaner and the Armstrong Swivel-Head Mop with reversible terry cloth cover. Simply spray and mop. Clean up spills immediately and follow with the recommended floor cleaner. For more information, visit www.armstrong.com.

ENVIRONMENTAL LEADERSHIP

EEF5305

Using less

Environmental sustainability begins with reducing our consumption. We continually strive to improve our manufacturing processes, enabling us to produce quality hardwood flooring with less lumber. In addition, we are seeking to limit our usage of tropical species by developing new design and production techniques to create exotic hardwood looks using abundant domestic species. Our new Exotic Fusion™ collection is the perfect example of how Armstrong is putting innovation to work to preserve our natural resources.

Armstrong is committed to being an ecologically responsible business. Through specific sustainability initiatives, we are reducing our environmental footprint and providing products and services that help our customers reduce their environmental impact as well. As a user of lumber, a renewable natural resource, we support responsible reforestation and replenish at least as much as we harvest each year. For details, visit www.armstrong.com/sustainability.

EEF5305

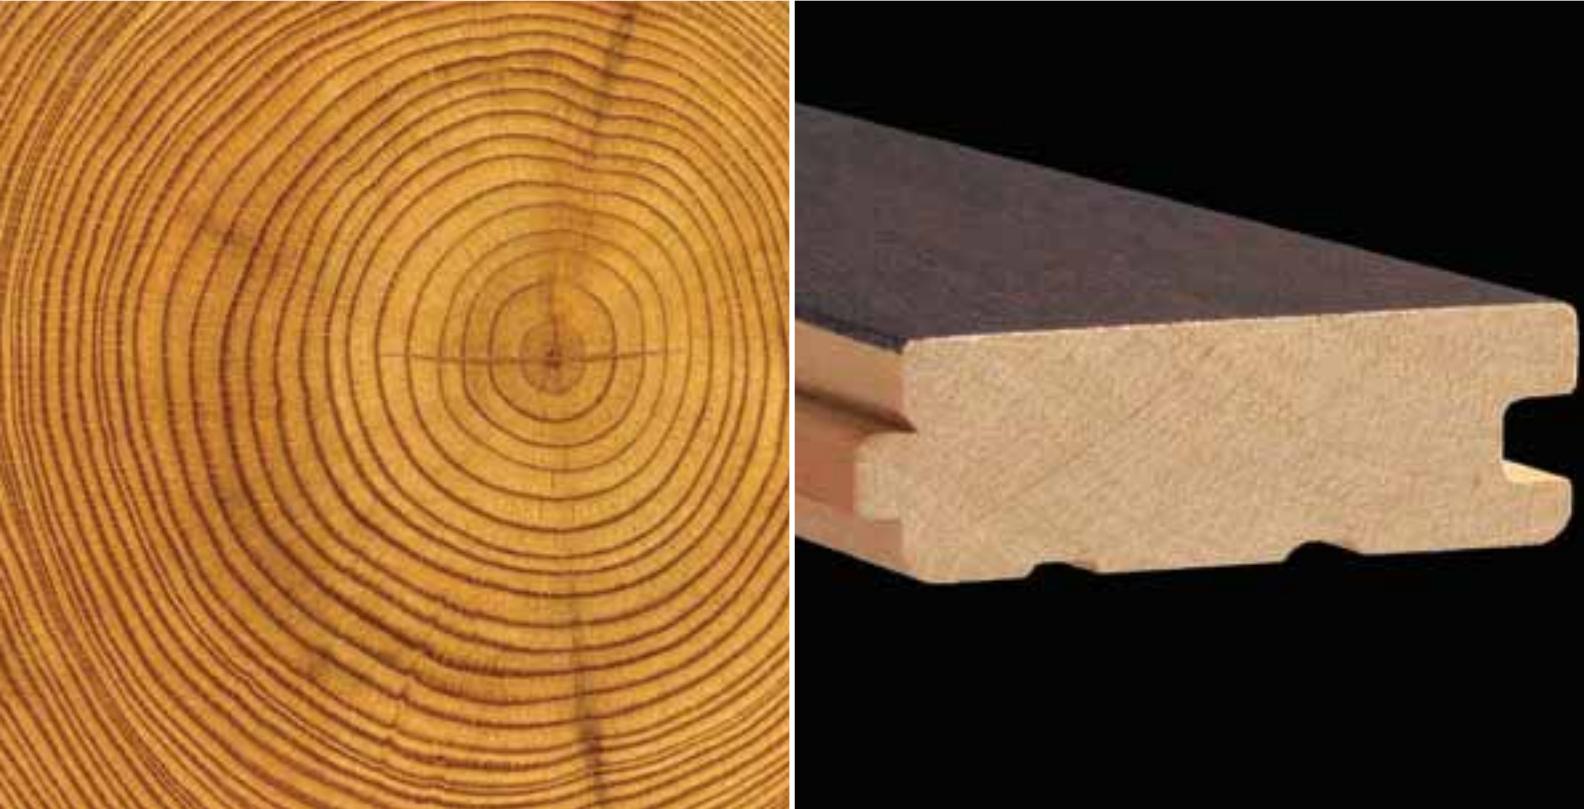

Renewing more

Through a partnership with the Hardwood Forestry Fund, we actively support reforestation efforts to replace the domestic hardwood species we harvest. Last year, we planted and managed over half a million new trees on public lands across the U.S., including state parks and forests in Kentucky, Wisconsin, Indiana and West Virginia.

Responsible sourcing

Our dedication to the environment includes the world's tropical forests as well. We require our suppliers to verify their adherence to international regulations protecting exotic species. We ensure that no endangered hardwood species are used in any of our products. We also partner with the Tropical Forest Foundation to continue to support and promote sustainable forest management and reduced impact logging practices.

QUALITY CRAFTED IN EVERY DETAIL

Raw Materials

Armstrong starts by inspecting and grading every board to ensure each will meet our rigid quality standards. Only the best pass our inspection.

Precise Drying

A key step in preparing the wood, we dry our lumber in state-of-the-art kilns that are constantly monitored by highly trained technicians to ensure the boards meet the specifications required to produce superior quality flooring.

Grading Standards

Once deemed ready for production, each board is meticulously graded and any unacceptable material is removed before milling.

Precision Milling

All planks are made straight, sanded to a consistent thickness, and machined to create a perfect tongue and groove fit. Adhering to the strictest standards during the milling process ensures reliable quality and consistency of all floor planks, from carton to carton. The planks install easily and fit together snugly for a finished floor that is stable, even and consistent.

Advanced Color Management

Armstrong uses computerized color monitoring systems to assure the highest level of color consistency from board to board and carton to carton, catching and correcting variations too subtle to be distinguished by the human eye.

The painstaking attention to detail that begins with the design process continues throughout every stage of manufacturing, from lumber selection to final finishing. Rigorous quality control, including more than 50 inspections throughout the entire manufacturing process, guarantees floors that install precisely and look beautiful for a lifetime.

Superior Finish Systems

Multi-layer ultraviolet cured aluminum oxide urethane coating systems are factory applied to provide exceptional stain resistance and 5 to 10 times more wear resistance than other finish systems. With our variety of proprietary finishes Armstrong creates a range of looks, from low-gloss to high-gloss, as well as hardwoods for light, moderate or heavy traffic areas. Our exclusive Permion® finish is so durable, it even stands up to commercial use.

Detailed specifications for all the hardwood floors featured in this catalog are included on the following pages in the Armstrong Product Guide. This portion of the catalog is designed to give your retailer all the information necessary to help you choose the right floor, complete the order and properly install it in your home. If you have any questions about any Armstrong hardwood floor, call on your nearest independent Armstrong hardwood retailer. For locations near you, visit www.armstrong.com.
